14th Feb Turbulent Times: Ngai Tahu in the nineteenth century Dr Martin Fisher

The nineteenth century was a time of change for Māori all across Aotearoa New Zealand, and this was no less so for Ngai Tahu in Te Wai Pounamu / the South Island. From internal strife to attacks by iwi from the North Island, by mid-century Ngai Tahu were faced with by far the greatest challenge they had ever faced: the Crown's insatiable desire for land. This talk will explore the turbulent times that defined the nineteenth century for Ngai Tahu.

28th Feb Owning our History: The New Zealand Wars Dr Vincent O'Malley

The nineteenth-century New Zealand Wars (1845-1872) profoundly shaped the course and direction of our nation's history, but have been little acknowledged, taught and understood. Historian Vincent O'Malley presents an introduction to the causes, course and consequences of these defining conflicts fought between groups of Māori and the Crown, and emphasises the importance of owning this history as a nation.

7th Mar Journey to Lan Yuan: Chinese settlement in New Zealand
Seán Brosnahan M.A. (Hons)

In 2016 a team from Toitū Otago Settlers Museum travelled the gold fields of Otago, Chinese camps in Victoria, and back to Guandong province in southern China to trace the footsteps of New Zealand's pioneer Chinese who were Cantonese gold seekers. The resulting documentary, Journey to Lan Yuan, showcases the unique experience of Otago's old Chinese families as they spread out through the country as its founding Asian group.
